Private Armour Reported Dead.

Private Edward Ellis Armour, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ferris Armour of 28 Hurlburt street, Albany, is dead in France, according to an official telegram from the war department in Washington received by his parents last night. Private Armour was gassed in action after he had gone over the top four times. He contracted influenza and was sent to one of the base hospitals from which his nurse cabled his parents a week ago, notifying them of his serious condition. Last night's telegram said Private Armour had died of influenza and the effects of being gassed.

Private Armour was a member of "D" company, 105th infantry. He was one of the men sent from Albany to Camp Whitman where he was assigned to the order supply train which did service on the Mexican border. When war was declared the United States he was sent with the guard to the Ashokan dam. Later he was transferred to Spartanburg. He arrived in France in May, this year.

Silver star citation. Commended for meritorious service for great courage and inspiring example in action when under an officer and two sergeants, he occupied an outpost in advance of his company, which was attacked by a superior force of the enemy. This soldier assisted in repulsing the attack, killing a number of the enemy and taking five prisoners and three machine guns. This during the battle of the Hindenburg Line, France, September 29, 1918

GOVERNOR NAMED BERRY AS ADJUTANT GENERAL

Brooklyn Officer, a Native of Catskill,
Appointed Head of New York
Guard—Made Notable Record
in World War.

Lieutenant Colonel Charles White Berry of Brooklyn has been appointed adjutant general by Governor Smith. The appointment is for two years at $8,000 a year and does not require confirmation by the Senate. Lieutenant Colonel Berry was born at Catskill in 1871 and was graduated from Columbia university in the class of 1896. Later he was connected with the New York state health department and was lecturer on health topics in New York university and Long Island Medical college.

The new adjutant general's military experience began with an enlistment Feb. 6, 1903, in Company H, Seventh infantry, in which he attained the rank of sergeant. He was made first lieutenant of the Fourteenth infantry in 1911 and a year later was made captain of Company E of that regiment. He served with the Fourteenth infantry on the Mexican border, being discharged Nov. 14, 1916. On April 9, 1917, he enlisted in the Headquarters company of the Fourteenth infantry and was commissioned major of infantry. Colonel Berry was mustered into the United States service July 15, 1917, and was transferred to the One Hundred and Sixth United States infantry Dec. 11, 1917. He sailed for France with the Twenty-seventh division May 10, 1918; commanded Second battalion, One Hundred and Sixth infantry, of the Twenty-seventh division, in the Ypres sector in Belgium, and was assigned to command the One Hundred and Fifth infantry in Flanders, Aug. 10, 1918. He led the One Hundred and Fifth infantry into the line at Dickebusch, Belgium, Aug. 22, 1918. His regiment was in battle Sept. 1 and 2.

Commissioned lieutenant colonel of the One Hundred and Fifth infantry, Sept. 9, 1918, he was second in command in the breaking of the Hindenburg line from Sept. 27 to 30, 1918, and in the subsequent advance to the Canal de la Sambre with almost continuous fighting until Oct. 20, 1918; selected for promotion to colonel, Oct. 28, 1918; returned to this country to take charge of formation of new divisions. He arrived in United States Nov. 14, 1918.

The war departments record at Washington, speaking of Lieutenant Colonel Berry, says: "An excellent and efficient National Guard officer of exceptional ability."

AMSTERDAM BOY SAYS 105TH DID BIT

"H" Company Entered Fighting With 165, Came Out With Twenty.

1229/18

Special to The Knickerbocker Press.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 23.—How "H" company of the 105th infantry went into the fighting with 165 men and came out with twenty is related in a letter written to W. A. Bishop of 10 Mohawk place, by his son, C. H. Bishop, former first sergeant of "H" company, who later entered a training school for officers at Camp de La Valbonne in France. Sergeant Bishop's letter reads:

"The lid is off at last. This is 'Dad's Christmas Letter Day,' and we are allowed to write pretty nearly anything we want, so I guess I had better start right in the beginning and tell everything that has happened and where we have been and you can follow me on the map.

"We landed at Brest on May 21 and I, being supply sergeant, was sent ashore to look after our baggage. I was first off the ship. We stayed at Brest until June 6 and then piled into a train, all box cars and forty men in a car, and on June 8 we got off at Noyelles. That is quite a way north. From there we hiked to Hautvillers, not very far from Amiens. We were billeted there in a barn until June 17, when we hiked about eight miles to Miannay. On June 22 we left Miannay and kept on hiking until June 24, when we struck Doullens. That is quite a big city, but when we were there it wasn't very far back from the front and most of the civilians had moved out. We had our first air raid there. Jerry sent his planes over almost every night.

"We left Doullens about 9 o'clock on the night of July 2 and rode on a freight train until 5 o'clock the next morning and got off at Wzernes and then hiked about fourteen miles to Watten, where we spent the fourth. On July 7 we hiked to a little village just outside of St. Omer. That is a pretty big city. On July 14 we took a train for Winnezule, stayed there two days and then hiked about five miles to St. Laurent, near Steenwoort. That is the first place where we were under artillery fire. We were about fifteen miles from the front and Jerry was using his long range guns to shell that area. We had just started to realize there was a war going on. From that time on our company was under artillery fire practically all the time until the armistice was signed. From then on we kept slowly moving up to the front lines until the night of August 5 when we did our first real trick in the trenches. That night it was raining very hard and everything was muddy and slippery.

"It was a very dark night and we marched into the trenches in single file, hanging on to each other so we wouldn't get lost. About every ten feet we would fall down or slide into a shell hole, so that when we got into the trenches we were all soaking wet and covered with mud from head to foot. It sure was a time that none of us will ever forget. These trenches were in Belgium in what was known as the Backhouse sector and were right in front of the famous Kemmel Hill that was taken and lost about a dozen times. The Germans had the hill at that time. That sector was pretty quiet and we were there until August 12 and only had one man killed.

"On August 31 one platoon from our company went over the top in front of Kemmel Hill and took quite a few prisoners. Several of our fellows were wounded. On September 1 Jerry shelled us pretty heavily and we lost Fred Waterman and four or five other fellows were wounded.

"On September 5 we got back to Doullens again and stayed there until September 22 when we got on a train and started south. We passed through Amiens and got off the train at Tincourt. From then until the 29th we were in different parts of the lines between Cambrai and St. Quentin. On the morning of September 29 we went over the top in the big drive that broke the Hindenburg line. They said it was the strongest point in the German line and I guess it was, because it certainly cost us enough men. We went in with about 150 men and came out with sixty-five, and I don't understand how the sixty-five of us ever got out alive. The morning after the drive I went back across the battlefield we had gone through and there were two or three wounded or dead men in every shell hole and the shell holes were not more than ten or fifteen feet apart. It was the most terrible sight that I ever saw or ever want to see.

"On October 2 we went back to a place about three miles from Peronne and stayed there four days to get a rest and then back up to the lines again. From then until October 17 we were moving around in different parts of the lines.

"On October 13 I was promoted to first sergeant and my name was sent in to attend an officers' training school. The company was scheduled to go over the top again on October 17, but I was lucky enough to be sent back on October 16 to go to this school. It's a lucky thing for me that I was sent back, because I knew that if I went over again it would be my last trick—I could feel it in my bones. I guess that's what they call animal instinct. The company went over on the morning of October 17 and then went over each morning for five days in succession, and when they got through there were only about twenty of them left. The rest were either wounded or have played their last game. I guess the old 105th has done its share."

Cited in S.O. 86, 27 Div 1919: - For extraordinary heroism under heavy shell fire. On Aug 25, 1918, while holding the reserve line in front of Mt Kemmel, this officer acting as Adjutant for the 2nd Battalion, 105 Infantry, showed great coolness when the enemy shelled his headquarters in ordering his Sgt Major, runners, etc, to safety and himself standing his ground, the result being that a shell struck a few feet from him and wounded him severely, from the effects of which he died. His coolness and bravery under heavy shell fire was a fine example to his men.

dered about for about a half hour and finally got lost. Did not see a soul. When the shells started landing all about I began to feel unsteady and dropped into a hole for a while till the shelling died down. About six shells landed right beside me, exploding and whistling through the air. I began to wonder if the bombardment would ever die down when one came and hit right near me and the dirt blew up. There was a queer odor and I did not know what it was. I was sure it was not gas so I did not put my mask on.

Schenectady Boy Gassed.

Private Joseph S. Cummings, Jr., of 28 Clinton street, Schenectady, whose name appears in this morning's casualty list, was gassed in battle September 24. According to a telegram reaching his parents several days ago. They had previously received a letter from their son dated October 9, in which he described in detail the events leading up to the time he reached the hospital. The letter follows:

It was on the 20th of September that we were resting after our long stay in the trenches at the Kemmel hill. When it was known we were in reserve and some of the rifle companies were in the support and front lines. Then we were relieved and went from there to a line in a rest. On a Sunday we got orders to be ready for the line, not knowing what part we were going to take. This was unexpected and I did not have time to receive communion. Went up with the feeling that I was in for something soon. On the night of the 22nd we took over our part of the trenches at St Quentin where the big push was made and where the great Hindenburg line of defense was smashed and Jerry forced back. I had been up for two days and two nights and I was mud from head to foot.

On the night of the 24th about 12 o'clock the sergeant told me I was to go to the first section and deliver a message and return with some reports. I passed over to our first section and went

"Suddenly I heard the rumble of artillery wagons in the distance and glanced in the direction of the noise and to my surprise there was a battery of Australian artillery coming up. I jumped and ran forward. By the time I got there my nose was running like water and my eyes were smarting and also water running from them. My whole chest and stomach seemed to be on fire and I began to get severe pains and short winded. Suddenly the battery commander yelled, "Look out for that gas" and I smelled for a second and was surprised to smell the same thing I did before. Then I knew I was gassed. They took me to a dressing station, where I had to inhale ammonia fumes. They put some stuff on my legs, and then sent me in an ambulance to another place. By this time I was blinded and could not see. I finished up at a general hospital at Rouen, France. After five or six days my eyes were better and the bandages came off. I was very happy when I found I could see again. A few days later I was sent to England where I am now, in a Canadian hospital. Have been here three days and am going to get up today. Am feeling a whole lot better. The
